

Arranmore Co. Dhún na nGall

Facts

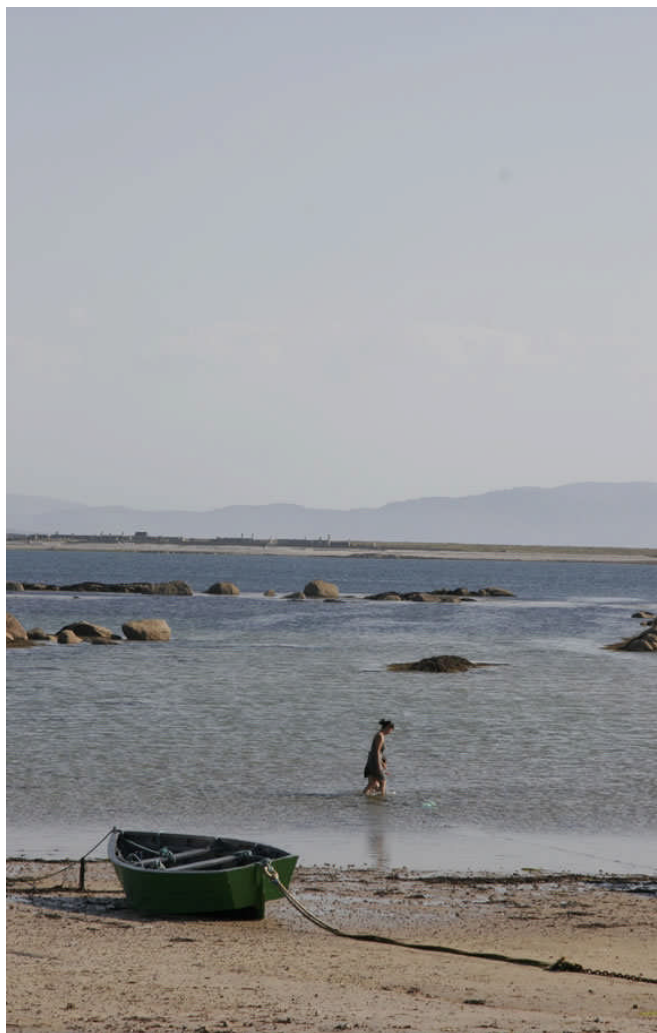

Arranmore is the largest island in Donegal and is the second largest in Ireland in terms of population.

Because of the roll on-roll off and the fast ferry, it is possible to live on the island and work on the mainland. Donegal airport is a mere 15 minutes away from Burtonport, where the ferry leaves for the island. You could therefore leave the island at 7.00am, be in Dublin before 9.00am and be back on the island the same evening if you wished.

Most of the islanders however prefer to work on the island and they work mostly in fishing, in the Co-op and in the service sector.

There is an excellent secondary school on the island which attracts students from the mainland, two primary schools and a nursery. There are good facilities therefore for families and for children. The island also has a Drama Club, a Rowing Club, a Soccer Club and a Youth Club and there are lots of indoor activities and classes in the Autumn and Winter months.

During the Summer of course people prefer to be outside and the island's population raises to 1,500, when islanders working away from home return to spend their holidays.

Arranmore is a beautiful island for young and old alike and if you would like more information about living on the island, contact the Co-operative at 074 95 20533 arranmoreco.op@indigo.ie. www.oileanarainnmhoir.com.
